We respect the privacy of our children, families and educators. We strive to ensure that our work is created in an environment that is safe and respected by all those who view and learn from its use, and that it is utilized only for its intended purpose.

Within our Emergent Curriculum program philosophy, we regularly take photographs of the children as part of documenting their learning. These photos and videos are used to support individual programming goals, student learning, and to educate new families and the public on our programs (these only remain on site).
